Anna Jarvis was American, and she had a very kind mother. At that time, there was a war between the north and the south of America. Because many people got hurt in the war, Anna's mother went to the hospital and took care of them. To make people show love to each other, Anna started "Mother's Friendship Days" after the war.

Anna loved her mother very much and she always helped her with the housework. However, Anna's mother died on the second Sunday of May in 1905. Anna was very sad about her mother's death. In 1907, she asked the government to make a holiday to remember her mother and all the others'. In 1914, the day became a national holiday and all the people in the USA celebrated it with a lot of activities.

On Mother's Day, children show thanks to their mothers in many different ways. Some may make beautiful cards and draw pictures of their mothers. Some may help with the housework, like doing dishes, taking out garbage, or washing cars. Many may send carnations to their mothers because they are in full bloom in May. How about you? Don't forget to show your love to your mother on this special day.

 (C) People should take care of those who get hurt.
 (D) People should show their love to mothers.

Emily Dickinson was born in 1830. She is one of the greatest poets in American history. Unlike other great writers, Emily Dickinson was a woman who liked to stay home. Her father was a lawyer, so she had a chance of going to college, but it was a very short unhappy time for her.

In fact, she didn't finish school. After that, she seldom left the house, she never got married, and she didn't see anyone. She was always dressed in white. Though she wrote more than one thousand poems, only seven were published during her life. Most of her works were known only after her death.

Her poems are short and easy to read, but they have something important behind words. She used everything in her small world to write her wonderful poems. In them, she showed a strong interest in all the living things around her.

More and more people in America are going to work on bicycles. Most want to save gasoline. Others find riding a bicycle is good for their health. They also find that it is much easier to park a bike than a car.

Paul is one of such people. To save cost and lose weight, he began to ride a bike to work eight months ago. Though it takes him 40 minutes to get to his office, he feels good about it. He now wakes up early and leaves the house early. He enjoys the fresh air on his way. Paul says that he now sleeps better at night.

Paul joins a bicycle club, too. The club organizes trips to scenic spots on weekends. His wife goes on the half-day trips with him sometimes. Paul loves bike riding even more. Now for him, riding a bike not only saves money but also makes him healthy.

Sam: Dad, guess what? There is a new student in my class! He is Chris.

Dad: That's good. You can have a new friend in the new semester.

Sam: But he looks a little strange. One of his legs is shorter than the other! He doesn't walk well, and many of my classmates laughed at him when he first came in the classroom.

Dad: They shouldn't do that.

Sam: He's quite optimistic. Ms. Jackson let him sit beside me. We had some free talks during the breaks today. He told me that he had a serious illness when he was two years old. After that, his left leg seemed to grow slowly.

Dad: You are already his good friend. He shared so much with you today.

Sam: Yeah. In fact, I learned a lot from him today. He never gives up learning because of his disability.

Dad: So we should cherish our healthy bodies. How about giving up playing computer games and studying hard now?

There are many superstitions around the world. For example, Chinese people don't like the number four because it sounds like “death” in Chinese. Chinese people usually have fish at home because it sounds like “more” in Chinese. Isn't it fun? In America, many buildings don't have the 13th floor. In France, people don't like the number thirteen for their home addresses. In these countries, people are afraid that Friday falls on the 13th of a month because they think it's an unlucky day. People are always careful on this day or they may have bad luck. But do you know where this superstition comes from?

One story is that there were thirteen people at Jesus' Last Supper. The thirteenth person, Judas, betrayed Jesus. Also, the thirteenth tarot card is Death. That's why the number thirteen is not popular with Americans. So, be careful next time Friday the 13th comes! Maybe you can cross your fingers to stop bad things from happening.

 (D) People should not use candles during an earthquake.

Greg: Mom, who's that little boy over there? Why is he nodding his head like that on the road?
 He looks so strange.
 Mom: Greg! It's not polite to talk about people like that. He's just sick.
 Greg: Oh, I'm sorry. I won't do it again. But who is he? I've never seen him before.
 Mom: Warren just moved into the apartment next to our house. Mrs. Hooper brought him home last month. She wants to take care of children who need special help. Warren is one of them.
 Greg: Can I help, too?
 Mom: Of course. But the first thing you should know is, though people look different, we are all the same. We all need love and care in difficult times.
 Greg: I see, Mom. Let's find some time to visit Mrs. Hooper and Warren.
 Mom: OK, we'll do that.

32. Which is true?
