I did something brave today. I was on my way home after school. When I just turned the corner into an alley, I heard a loud scream. I looked ahead right away and I saw a man kicking a black dog on the street. The dog was so afraid and I knew I had to do something. I walked up to the man even though he looked very mean. I told him to stop. He got angry at me and told me to walk away. I said no. Finally, he left. To be honest, I was quite scared. Then I called the police and someone from an animal rescue place came to take the dog away. I am very happy I saved the puppy.

An Unhappy Day

Today was a fine day, but I was not very happy. Now I am sure if it was right to introduce Anna to Paul. This afternoon Paul asked me what movie Anna likes. He wanted to invite her to that kind of movie so that Anna would think they have a common interest. I know Paul in fact does not like the kind of movie Anna likes best, but he kept begging me to tell him. Finally, I gave in and told him we often watched love stories together. Now I feel down. What if Anna finds out the truth and thinks I helped Paul lie to her? Will she still be my friend?

One day a farmer took his horse to the town for sale. On his way he saw an old woman. She looked weak, so the farmer carried her on his horse. Before the woman said goodbye, she gave the farmer a ring. She said the magic ring could make any dream come true, but he could make only one wish.

The farmer sold his horse and began to walk home. When he was half way there, he ran into an old friend and went to his house to rest. After drinking some wine, the farmer talked about the ring. The friend asked him to drink more wine to celebrate for his good luck. The farmer drank too much and fell asleep. The man took the ring and put another in its place. After the farmer woke up and left, the man said to the ring, "Fill the house with gold." Lots of gold fell down like heavy rain and killed the man. When the farmer got home, he thought he should wait until his children got older to decide what wish was best. So he hid it and forgot about it some years.
