My grandma was a science teacher for over 30 years. Now she works as a volunteer docent in a national park. Visitors always enjoy her tours. She introduces and describes Nature in an interesting and simple way. She also likes to tell jokes, and these often get lots of belly laughs from her tour groups. Sometimes, on weekends, I join one of these groups and listen to Grandma's interesting introductions and descriptions, just for fun. Along the way, all of us learn a lot about the area's many plants, birds and colorful insects. It's Grandma's birthday next month, so I want to draw a picture of her addressing a group of visitors to the park. I think it would make a really cool birthday gift!

Hi, my name is Judy. I live with my family in a small house in Tainan. I have many good neighbors.
 The family living on our right is a small one. Mr. and Mrs. Wen are both teachers at my school, and their son, Simon, is my classmate. He is good at sports. He can play basketball, baseball, and tennis. He is also good at running and jumping. We often meet for a talk in the evening and walk his pet dog in the park. He is really a nice guy.

The neighbor on our left is Mr. Smith. He is a music writer. He writes many great songs for movies. He can play the piano and the flute. At night, we can hear beautiful music from his house.

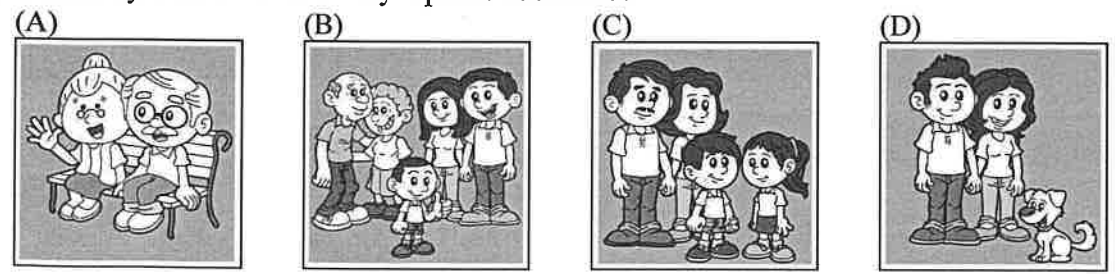

Mr. and Mrs. Colliton live across from us. They are both in their seventies. They don't have children. Every morning, they take a walk in the park and talk to people there. They are kind to everyone.

I am happy to have these nice neighbors. We are like a big family. We have fun together and are all ready to help each other.
