People in some countries honor the ghosts with Halloween, but people in Taiwan honor the ghosts with a month. They call it "the Ghost Month." They believe the gate to Hell opens on July 1 on the Chinese calendar, and all the ghosts come out to visit their family, have big meals, or even look for victims. So people buy much food and burn paper money for them. People don't want to get in the way of the ghosts because they don't want the ghosts to bring them bad luck. For example, in this month, people avert activities like going out at night, taking trips, moving into new places, getting married, or starting a new business. And parents tell their children not to get near water, or the ghosts in the water may take their life. You may not believe it, but you need to show your respect.

Learning English

Here is some advice on learning English. First, read English stories to learn more words. If you do not know what a word in the story means, try to guess it by looking at the sentence. If that does not work, you can then look it up in a dictionary. Second, watch more English TV shows and movies. This will help you better understand the culture and see how English is used in daily life. If you are watching a film, try turning off the Chinese subtitles so that you can make yourself listen to English. Third, try talking to foreigners when you have the chance, as it will help you become more confident. Lastly, have fun. There is no way to be good at English if you do not enjoy the language. If you keep the advice in mind, your English will get better and better.

Chinese New Year is a very important holiday. It's a time for families to get together and enjoy big meals with special food. It's also a time for big celebrations. The celebrations can take many forms. However, their purpose is the same. They get rid of the bad from the old year and bring in the good of the new one.

New York City has its CNY Firecracker Ceremony and Cultural Festival. Over 600,000 firecrackers start the celebration. They scare off all the evil spirits of the past year.

Dragons' are a symbol of good luck, health, and power. So, it's common to see dragon dances in CNY celebrations. They chase away evil spirits and bring in good luck. The best place to catch a dragon dance is the Manchester Dragon Parade. It has a 175-foot dragon, and it excites people as it makes its way through the streets. There are also big CNY parades in LA (洛杉磯) Singapore (新加坡), and Vancouver (溫哥華). People fill the streets to enjoy them and celebrate the new year. Happy Year of the Dragon!
